of the plank favoring exemption in the Panama Canal, and was the expression of Democratic doctrine for many years.

Senator Owen declared he favored repeal of the navigation laws giving American owned and manned ships a coastwise trade monopoly. Under these laws, he declared, the companies had so divided the traffic among themselves that they extorted improper rates from the shippers.

Senators Bristow and Pall declared that railroad domination of coastwise shipping, through arrangement with the Pearsen syndicate, controlling the Tchuantepec railroad, had created a condition of monopoly in coastwise traffic. The exemption provision of the canal act was aimed at this monopoly. Senator Bristow insisted.

Representative Doremus, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee one of the first speakers to day, expressing regret that he had to differ with the President, declared that Great Britain had admitted the American right to exempt coastwise trade from payment of tells lie said that if the Sims bill became a law, "we will be forever stopped from granting free transit through the canal to our ships in the coastwise or foreign trade."

At the evening session the petition asking the rights of the laity be granted to the women of the church was defeated. The report of the committee on memorials to the general conference recommended nonconcurrence regarding this petition, and the conference, whose vote was such as to seem to be almost unanimous, supported the report of the committee.

The benediction, which followed the reading of the appointments at the evening session, marked the close of the conference.

DR. PURYEAR DIES AT COUNTRY HOME

Former Professor at Richmond College Was in Eighty-Eighth Year.

HELD CHAIR OF CHEMISTRY

Served for Many Years as Chairman of College Faculty.

Dr. Bennett Puryear, for many years professor of chemistry at Richmond College, and for a long period chairman of the faculty of that institution, died resterday morning at 2 o'clock at his home in Madison County. Dr. Puryear was in his eighty-eighth year, and had retired from active duties at the college for a number of years. He was in former years one of the best known men connected with the college, and had done much to elevate its standards.

much to elevate its standards.

Born in Mecklenburg.

Dr. Puryear was born in Mecklenburg County on Roanoke River, July 23, 1826. He was a son of Thomas Puryear, a man of wide influence in his section and time. Through his mother he was related to Chief Justice John Marshall. He was the youngest of six sons. His early education was received at private schools and from tutors employed in his father's home. He entered Randolph-Macon College, then located at Boydton, in 1834, graduating at the head of his class in 1847. He later entered the University of Virginia, where he took a special course in chemistry under Professor Robert E. Rogers. Having taught for one year in Alabama, Dr. Puryear accepted a position as tuter in the academic department of Richmond College in 1842, and was appointed lecturer in chemistry during that session, and at the beginning of the following session was made professor of chemistry.

He was elected professor of mathematics in the University of Alabama, which position he accepted and filled with distinction until 1866. The college suspended regular work for a part of the war period, but resumed classes shortly after the end of hostililities.

Now comes a new method of filing

For years and years-ever since the first filing cabinet was made-there has been endless discussion as to the superiority of the Alphabetic and Numeric methods of filing.

Each had-and has-its advocates; each its critics.

Now comes a new method of filing that combines many advantages of both the old methods; and has some advantages of its own.

It is called the "Automatic Index." Because It indexes itself, automatically.

With the "Automatic Index" it is easy to file letters correctly. It is difficult to file them incorrectly. Why? Because it pro-vides a check against errors. That, perhaps, is the best thing about it—the feature that sets it apart from any and all other filing
